

A DIALOGUE SERIES ON IMAGINATION IN RESEARCH & TEACHING

THE POSSIBLE'S SLOW FUSE

The Possible's Slow Fuse is a scholarly dialogue series organized by the Centre for Imagination in Research, Culture & Education (CIRCE) and the Research Hub of the Faculty of Education. Our 2019 series offers six stimulating discussions about the nature and role of imagination in research and education, facilitated by scholars from diverse fields in education—arts, indigeneity, technology, teacher education, mathematics, and aesthetics. We invite you to bring your ideas and questions, and share and celebrate learning and discovery together.

The Visceral Imagination

Dr. Celeste Snowber

February 28, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pmSUR5080, Faculty of Education
SFU Surrey CampusTeaching and Theater

Dr. Kevin O'Neill

April 2, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pmEDB8515, Research Hub
SFU Burnaby CampusThe Vital Role of Indigenous Imagination in Reconciliation

Dr. Vicki Kelly

May 1, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pmEDB8515, Research Hub
SFU Burnaby Campus"Only Beauty Can Save the Planet"

Dr. David Jardine

May 31, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pm

SFU Vancouver Campus

Imagine that...: A modestly immodest proposal for teacher education

Dr. Michael Ling

September 25, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pm

SFU Surrey Campus

Imagining a Posthuman Education

Dr. Nathalie Sinclair

November 20, 2019 | 1:30-3:00 pmEDB8515, Research Hub
SFU Burnaby Campus